METHODS

Instructions as to the method of obtaining historical material relative to Wyoming in general and particularly of your own County.

I. Methods for Collecting Information.

1. Personal observation and knowledge.
2. Research.
3. Newspapers from old files, if possible from county libraries or office where your city or county newspapers is issued; often an article in a local paper asking for old files or information will bring satisfactory results.
4. Interviews with pioneers and early settlers.
5. Books—consult with city, county, state and university libraries.
6. Pamphlets—often commercial clubs and fraternal orders publish valuable information.
7. Old letters, diaries and journals.
8. Scrap books, plush albums, photographs, attics and old trunks furnish a wealth of past information.
9. Old and present day city and county directories and MAPS.
10. Reports of the Territorial and State Governors and other state officials.
11. United States Government Reports.
12. The county library should be a very special place for information.

II. The Territory of Wyoming and Statehood.

Before county organization is studied there should be at least a few lessons on Territorial days and Statehood of any state, and then the organization of the Territory of Wyoming, and the organization of the State.

Observe Wyoming Day, December 10th, when the pioneers and and citizens will give many interesting and valuable historical facts. Remember the day in memory of those who made possible our State what it now is.

References—Any text-book on civics, or, United States Government for territorial organization and the formation of a State and the relation of such territories and states to the National Government. See (9) Edition for 1921, Ch. VI and VII; (50) p. 333-381; (2) Ch. XLII; (15) Vol. 1, Chs, XI, XII, XIV-XVI; (15b) p. 130-152; (46) p. 96-110.

III. Information Needed for Each County.

1. Give the name of your county, its origin and meaning.
2. When county organization was authorized and when formed.
3. Boundaries of county when organized and changes that have been made in these boundaries.
4. Size in acres or square miles when organized and population.
5. Size of county today, and population and exact boundaries as compared with it when originally organized.
6. Growth of population by decades, or, if possible, every five years.
7. Education, number of grade schools, when organized, number of pupils and teachers; compare these with the census of 1920, or data more recent if obtainable. What was the first school in your county, the teacher, when was this? Endeavor to locate the exact spot of the building and there place some kind of a mark or marker; observe this event with an appropriate public ceremony.

8. History of all newspapers, those no longer published as well as the current issues.
9. Principal industries in your county. This should also include those that were in the original county, from which your county was carved as well as during its changing growth, as cattle, sheep, other livestock, oil, factories, agriculture, fruit growing, mining, etc., etc.
10. History of the county (For suggested method study carefully the outline here submitted for Albany County; use this detailed outline not only for your county, but all of the towns and cities of your county.)
11. References for information in regard to your county may be found under the division IV where subjects to be studied are given, as well as are the books containing such material and the several pages.
12. Religious denominations, lodges, fraternal orders, etc.
13. Counties are alphabetically arranged and not in the order of their organization.
14. Preserve these reports as they are made each year by you and your pupils. The material and information will be of great value with the passing of the years, ultimately making a complete history of your special county. Your county library or court house should be an excellent place for filing and preserving these histories. Here they could be easily consulted and should be carefully preserved. It is hoped as a result of this work that there will be written as many county histories as there are counties in Wyoming. (Write to the author of this bulletin for further instructions, if needed, and for help in selecting a small library from the list of books here given, or, a few books for your personal library, or for your school use. All of the books bear upon the subject of Wyoming history and the state's development. If errors in this text are detected or additions to the history of your county are needed please correspond with the author.)

ALBANY COUNTY

IV.

1. Give the origin of the name of your county, also a list and origin of names of all cities, towns, villages, with earliest and present population. (This is not always possible, but valuable). Some towns that once were prosperous are now forgotten and abandoned. These "ghost cities" are of particular importance in a historical way. (Old South Pass City, Carbon, Jelm and Tie City are four examples) (15) p. 503-08.
2. In every case obtain derivation of origin of names, proper not popular, pronunciation and spelling, i. e. Gros Ventre now Grovont, Richard now Ricard, Popo Agie not Poposia.
3. Into what tract or tracts of land was your county before there was a Wyoming? Give an account of the purchase, grant, annexation or ceding of such land. (9) Ch. 1.
4. Give origin of name and location of all rivers, lakes, streams, mountains, peaks and passes in your county.
5. Tell of the natural resources and unusual formations, i. e. Chimney Rock.
6. Tell of the present day State Institutions in your county. (The State Board of Charities and Reform, Cheyenne, has full information on these institutions.)
7. How do the farmers, ranchmen and cities obtain their water supply?
8. The railroads, the Union Pacific and the Colorado, Wyoming and Eastern. Give history of and reason for their construction. (2) Ch. XLIV (3) Ch. XIII, XIX (8) Ch. IX (11) (15) Ch. XXII (22) p. 381-412 (24) (25) (44) (46) p. 129-135.
9. The Medicine Bow National Forest. (Consult the nearest Forest Supervisor or Ranger.)
10. The Medicine Bow Peak and Range, grazing, fishing, camping and sources of water supply.
11. Laramie Peak (2) p. 20.
12. Fort D. A. Russell Maneuver and Target Reserve. Why reserved, where located, how large and regulations in regard to using?
13. General John Charles Fremont's Trail across this county. (2) Ch. XIX-XXI (3) (6) p. 95-6 (7) Ch. II (8) Ch. V (9) p. 43 (13) Vol. I p. 43-4 (14) (15) Ch. VIII (15a) p. 4-5 (22) p. 242-45 (50) (51).
14. Fort Sanders (2) p. 388, 586, 601, 614, 622, 680-1 (15) p. 320 (15a) p. 15-17.
15. The Overland Route (2) Ch. XXX (3) Ch. XI (13) Vol. I p. 59-99 (15) p. 332 (15a) p. 29-31 (28) Ch. XV (29) Ch. XXX (45) (46) p. 121.
16. Old trails in your county, forts, stage and pony express stations and telegraph lines (2) (3) (6) (8) (9) (10) (13) Vol. I p. 59-99 (15a) (27) (28) (29) (45) p. 215-224 (46).
17. Highways and roads. Give route through your county.
18. Tribes of Indians claiming your county as their hunting grounds (1) (13) (28) (29) (40) Ch. XVI. (See Campbell County No. 3 and 4 for page references.)
19. Indian Reservations.
20. Monuments and markers for trails, battle fields or fort sites (15a).
21. Fur traders and trappers and explorers going over what is now your county (1) (2) (6) (7) (8) (13) (22) (28). (See Carbon County Nos. 2, 4, 5, 8, 27.)

22. Irrigation projects, canals, basins, dams, reservoirs and watersheds.
22a. Draw a map of the county.
23. Cooper, Hattie, James, Hutton and Ione Lakes. Derivation of names and locate. What are they used for?
24. Stock industry and cowboys. (4) p. 41-54 (8) (12) (32) (33) (38) (40) (41) (42) (46). (See Laramie County No. 17 for page references.)
25. The Ashley Expeditions (1) (2) (6) (8) (13) (15) (18) (19) (20) (22) (27) (45) (47). (See Goshen County No. 8 and Big Horn County No. 3 and Sweetwater No. 2-5 for page references.)
26. The Fish Hatchery (9) p. 265.
27. The Ames Monument (near Sherman.)
28. Gravel Pits.
29. Snowsheds, fences, blockades and snowstorms.
30. Oil and minerals.
31. Tie Camps.
32. Agriculture.
33. The Buffalo (1) (8) (10) (20) (30) (35). (See Campbell County No. 8 for page references).
34. Observe Wyoming Day, December 10th.

V. (a) The City of Laramie (15) Ch. XXXIII.
1. Derivation of name (Jacques de la Ramée, a French-Canadian fur trapper.) (1) p. 469 (2) p. 296-99 (13) Vol. I p. 102 (46) p. 154.
2. Earliest days, vigilant committees and the final establishment of law and order. First mayor and city council.
3. First Woman Jury, March 1870 (15b) p. 240-247 (50) p. 353-4.
4. Bill Nye and his paper "The Boomerang" (4) p. 7-24 (15b) p. 263-69.
5. Life and work of some of the pioneers and early settlers.
6. Education Institutions.
   a. City Schools, first building, teachers and number of pupils.
   b. State University, origin and growth.
   c. Ivinson Hall.
   d. Cathedral Home for Children.
   e. Public Library.

(b) Industries (personally visit when possible.)
1. Union Pacific Shops.
2. Tie Plant.
3. Oil Refineries.
4. Plaster Mills.
5. Ice Plant.
6. Fish Hatchery.
7. City Springs as source of domestic and industrial water supply.

VI. Rock River, Centennial, Tie Siding, Dale City, Woods, Garrett, Toltec, Rock Creek, Tie City, Buford, Sibylee, Bosler, Wyoming, Mandel, Keystone, Sherman, Jelm, Fox Park, Gramm, Mountain Home, and Virginia Dale (just over the Colorado line) are suggested towns, villages, stations, post offices and "ghost cities," which are today and which have had a past. Use the city of Laramie as a type city or town in the study of other localities.

VII. References—(For trails, stage routes, roads and telegraph lines, consult with your county librarian, the State and State University Librarians, pioneers and old timers. Then have purchased a few representative volumes from the lists given in this outline for your rural and city schools, books that are of value for reference and information not only in Albany County but for Wyoming's counties. This list will not be repeated for other counties, but will be referred to only by number.
